Not So Hot Items	2
Location	2

What a great year we have in store. We are starting the new year with our first ever Children's Event. Coming February 20th thru 21st, 2010. Our first sale of 2010 will be held at Lakewood United Methodist Church in Lakewood. We are so very excited about this location and hope you can cash in on this sale. We really need consignors to commit to this event. The first twenty five consignors to sign up for this event will get free processing. That's eight dollars in your pocket. Tell your friends and tell your neighbors about this outstanding opportunity. Consignment City dfw pay it's consignors 70% commission, that's higher than any other consignment service in Dallas.

Plus you get your money within ten days of the end of the event. Clean out your closets and get ready to make some cash for your new and gently used items. Don't forget ALL consignors get Pre-Sale Privileges on Friday the 19th starting at 6pm till 8pm, even if you are not consigning at the current event. Just mention your consignor number for access. Contact Us or fill out our Consignor Contract today. We look forward to a great year in resale. Our Women's Event is set for June 2010. We will inform you when we decide on that location. If you have a location you think we will love, please forward that information to us. info@consignmentcitydfw.com.

We Love Local Designers and Retailers

Consignment City dfw loves our local designers. We want to offer them an outlet to promote their designs and sell their masterpieces. If you are a local designer for children's items, call 214.223.5464, today.

If you know a local designer or retailer who could use a bit more exposure send them our way. You can earn a referral fee for your consideration. We will offer space for signage and promote local businesses on our website, too. We will be offering the same consideration for our Women's, Men's and Couture Events, as well. Submit your business online or send your suggestions to info@consignmentCitydfw.com.

Top 5 Reasons To Resale

Some things are too good to throw away.

Re-energize your wallet.

It's the "Green" thing to do.

If it doesn't sell it can be donated to a charity that caters to families in need.

Who doesn't love a great find

It is no longer just adults that want a closet full of designer clothes but the kids want in on the action too. It did not take fashion designers long to figure this all out and they have jumped on the bandwagon to cater to these children. When it comes to denim jeans designers like 7 for all Mankind, True Religion, Paige Denim, Rock & Republic, Paper Denim & Cloth, and Diesel have all designed some winning jeans for kids.

Burberry, Little Marc, Juicy Couture, Tory Burch, J Crews Crew cuts, Dolce & Gabbana, and American Apparel have all jumped right aboard catering to the very same children of the parents who have already retained the customer relationship.

If you are looking for the absolute coolest in socks, gloves, tights, flip flops, pajamas, and stuff like that the rocking place to head is to a store that carries designer brand Little Mismatched. They cater to both adults and kids but offer the funkier in designs.

Glamajama is another hot topic for kids, babies, adults, and even pets. This line is available at Nordstrom's and Barney's and is sizzling as many of the Hollywood moms shop there too. The great things about these clothes are that they can not be found in most malls which are what makes them so unique and sought after. Less expensive designer brands such as baby Gap, Gap Kids, Baby Phat, Roca Wear, Polo, and Apple Bottoms are more common designer brands.

If you were to walk through a typical American classroom you might find that exclusive designer brands such as Dolce & Gabbana, Juicy Couture, True Religion and Seven for All Mankind are not the typical brands worn. It is much more likely that you would encounter such designer brands like Gap, Old Navy, Adidas and Puma. Because of this designers have hit the kids market hard and some have even gone as far as to drop their prices so they can broaden their market.

Once the issue of middle school comes up you will find that clothes have a direct correlation with social status. You will likely see these fashionistas in training draped in American Eagle, Abercrombie & Fitch, Ralph Lauren, Gap and Aeropostale. Yet you will find the highest rankings in designer brands such as Chanel or Louis Vuitton. My how things have changed, that's just one more reason to resale your stuff.

But let's get real. Here is a list of brands that we know sell:

Abercrombie & Fitch
Adidas
Aeropostale
Baby Dior
Bebe Grand Carter's Converse
Crew Cuts
Gap (Baby and Kids)
Garnet Hill
Gymboree
Hannah Anderson
Haute Baby
Janie and Jack
Levi's
Lilly Pulitzer
Nike
Old Navy
Puma
Ralph Lauren
The Children's Place

In addition to clothing we need:

Activity Mats
Bedding
Blankets
Books
Bows and Hats
Bouncers
Car Seats
Cribs
Strollers
High Chairs
Toys and More!

No So Hot Items

Though we know you may have lots of treasures, here are few items we don't want. First, if an item is stained, missing buttons, or has loose stitching, we don't think that it will sell.

If an item has been handed down two times, We probably can't sell it. The exception to this rule is for holiday and party apparel. Like that blazer your friend's son wore for pictures and never wore again, so they gave it to you, and your son wore it to church two times. That's probably ok.

We cannot except recalled items, you can check out the list online. We cannot risk danger to any child, so send it back! You may be able to get a refund or a voucher for other products.

No wee pads, sheets or cloth diapers, please. We think these pretty much speak for themselves. Email questions.
